Father's Influence

Research was done to determine what had the most impact on a child's future faith and church attendance. The question was asked to determine whether a person's religion carried through to the next generation, and if so, why, or if not, why not.

There is one critical factor. It is overwhelming, and it is this:

It is the religious practice of the father of the family that, above all, determines the future attendance at or absence from church of the children.

If a father does not go to church, no matter how faithful his wife's devotions, only one child in 50 will become a regular worshiper.

There is no greater moment in a man's life (other than his own baptism) than when a father baptizes his son or daughter with the child's mother and family all present.

Isaiah 64:8

But now, O Lord, you are our Father;
we are the clay, and you are our potter;
we are all the work of your hand.
